JOHN
MUIR

The John Muir Trust's engagement initiative - the John Muir Award - encourages you to connect with, enjoy and care for wild places. It meets you where you are on your journey with the natural world.

Whether you are taking your first steps in wild places, or are already enjoying them, becoming a Wild Places Guardian is the perfect way to strengthen your connection and care for your wild places.

To become a Wild Places Guardian, the John Muir Award challenges you to:

- Explore it
- Do something to Conserve it
- Share your experiences.

The Award supports people to connect with, enjoy and care for wild places through a structured yet adaptable scheme.

- ✓ For people of all backgrounds – groups, families and individuals.
- ✓ Fosters connections between people and wild places.

A UK-wide environmental award

Since its launch in 1997, over half a million John Muir Award participants from across the UK have taken action to protect and enhance our wild places.

"I'm a nature nerd and I don't care, thank you for teaching me."

"Like its not hard to help the environment and all the wildlife, we did it... just wee things make a difference."

"I felt at one with the outdoors, I felt calm and peaceful and I have discovered and stopped and studied things I would have not noticed before."
