

Under 18 poetry - Bronze

I think this tree is smiling by Thomas

I think this tree is smiling
With the light of the sunshine warming up it's tiny new green leaves
I also feel like smiling as the sun washes away the darkness in our hearts
I think that tree is smiling
With happiness and joy, as I look through a window where the cherry blossoms danced in the wind
Gone now
Time is passing
I think my tree is smiling
As he knows his role in the world
I can feel it's strong branches
It can feel my tiny hands
I am up in its canopy hidden from the lockdown world
My view is special and just for me
I think this tree is smiling
Smiling straight at me
I feel like smiling
I feel free.